Über modern rural retreat

A Bauhaus sensibility meets the Glass House mountains in this setting of utter tranquillity and über sophistication. The three Glass on Glasshouse cottages, designed by national award-winning architect Norman Richards, combine a location of extraordinary beauty – looking across to the 25-million-year-old volcanic cores of the Glass House mountains – with an unreservedly contemporary architectural genius.

Every room takes advantage of the brilliant views and is in harmony with the overall design. The floor-to-ceiling glass walls give these cottages a wow factor, dissolving the barrier between inside and outside.

The lighting is a feature, drenching selected spaces in a warm glow, and we love the incredible bathroom with its waterfall spa.

A true eco fireplace, which runs on ethanol from the nearby sugar cane fields, completes the integration of location with environmental consciousness. Kangaroos, wallabies and black cockatoos live their lives around you.

Cook for yourself, visit a local country pub or enjoy fine dining 25 minutes away. The world-renowned Australia Zoo is a 10-minute drive.
